Product Description

Air Conditioning Durable Projector Housing for Long-lasting CoolingProduct Description:

1.The projector cooling enclosure is equipped with air cooling technology, which allows for efficient and reliable cooling without the need for any additional cooling fluids or chemicals. This makes it a safe and eco-friendly option for your projector climate control enclosure needs.

2.The Air Conditioning Projector Housing is powered by electricity, making it easy to install and use. Simply plug it in and it's ready to go. The installation method for this product is the installation of a ground vertical pole, which provides a sturdy and reliable base for your projector cooling enclosure.

3.The material used for the Air Conditioning Projector Housing is galvanized sheet, which is known for its durability and resistance to corrosion. This means that your projector climate control enclosure will be able to withstand the elements and continue to provide reliable cooling for years to come.
